

SELECTIONS

FROM THE

VERNACULAR NEWSPAPERS

PUBLISHED IN THE PUNJAB,

NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES,

ODDH, AND CENTRAL PROVINCES,

Received up to 10th January, 1874.

POLITICAL (DOMESTIC).

The Akhbār-i-Alam thinks it unjust that the Government Pleader of the Sessions Court should receive only Rs. 20 a month for the prosecution of criminal cases, especially when it is considered that during the pendency of these cases he is debarred from private practice.

The Allygurh Institute Gazette has a communicated article on the charitable dispensary at Maija, the tuhseelee village of Pergunnah Khyragurh in the Allahabad District. Six years ago a poor-house and a dispensary were established at this place. The poor-house has from the first afforded shelter to 70 or 80 infirm people, most of whom are disabled from active labour by lameness in both feet, a common disease in the Khyragurh hills. But the dispensary has never been popular. Maija is an obscure and isolated village, which does not of itself require a dispensary, and which is too remote from other villages for its dispensary to be of any use to them. The number of patients last year was 866, or one a day, and in the year before not nearly so many. The transfer of the dispensary to Sirsa (a flourishing village of the same pergunnah, with a population of 5,000 souls) was promised by Government in the review of last year's Report by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals and Dispensaries, but nothing has as yet been done.

The Koh-i-Núr blames the Punjab Government for ordering all officers under it to have their printing done at Government presses only. An equally injurious order has been issued by the Director of Public Instruction, by which students in the Government Schools and Colleges are forbidden to use school-books printed at private presses. This total exclusion of private presses is only a cause of needless expense, for the work done by private presses is much better and cheaper than that done by the Government presses. The Chief Court of the Punjab, for instance, has found that it can have its Annual Reports printed better and cheaper at a private press than at the Jail press, and has obtained permission to use whatever press it chooses.

The Akmal-ul-Akhbár notices two important cases of theft which lately happened in the city of Delhi. In one of these Rs. 3,000 worth of property was carried away from the house of Mirza Yahaiya Beg, Risaldar; and in the other Goolab Sing, banker, lost ornaments valued at Rs. 3,000. The Risaldar has published a notice that any one who discovers and restores the stolen property may keep one-tenth by way of reward.

The Lauh-i-Mahfúz of the 26th December repeats the complaint noticed by the Allypore Institute Gazette some time ago, as to the impropriety of suffering Hindoostanee gentlemen, when arrested on a criminal charge, to be kept in custody and treated like prisoners in all respects, without any regard to their respectability or position, and, what is worse, making them appear in the Court loaded with chains like criminals, although upon trial they are generally acquitted. The accused in such cases should be held to bail.

The Muraqqa-i-Tehzib of the same date disapproves of the present system of registration, which, it is said, is unsuited for testing the authenticity of the deeds and documents brought to be registered, and gives advantages to dishonest persons to practise fraud in various ways, for the simple reason that the Registrar cannot be expected to recognize or identify all the persons of the city. In the editor's opinion, the system formerly adopted in Lucknow, under which the work of registration was entrusted to a few of the gentlemen of the city, might be introduced everywhere with advantage.

The Mayo Memorial Gazette of the same date says that the road to the Eedgah outside the city of Delhi is quite broken up and needs mending very badly. The place is the resort of pious Mussulmans on the Eed festival and at other times, and these people are now put to great inconvenience.

The Allygurh Institute Gazette of the 2nd January, in its local news column, states that within a week several daring robberies have happened in the environs of Allygurh, and that some of them were committed in broad daylight. Another robbery happened in Hurdwa, four kos from Allygurh; in this case, however, the robbers are said to have been arrested, together with the stolen property.

The editor wonders that such enormities should happen under British rule.

An Allygurh correspondent of the Lawrence Gazette of the same date confirms the above statement, and gives the following particulars:—

(a). A carriage containing the ladies of the family of a Bohra (a class of bankers so called) was plundered by a gang of about 30 dacoits. The Bohra, together with a student named Mahomed Shufee, who ran to the rescue on hearing the noise of the assault, were wounded by the robbers, and the carriage driver was killed. No trace of the offenders has been discovered.

(b). Another carriage, in which the women of the family of a pleader were travelling, was attacked by robbers at a distance of one kos from the city, who made off with the women's jewels and the papers of a lawsuit.

Another correspondent of the same paper, writing from Wuzeerabad (Punjab), mentions the frequency of thefts at some of the famous Mahomedan shrines in Upper India, especially those at Ajmere, Pakputtun, and Kotla. At the last mentioned place three cases are said to have happened within six months. Government is asked to take steps for putting a stop to the grievance.

The Hindú Prakash of the same date notes that the sale of a wife on a pretence of divorce is a common practice in the Punjab. A case of this kind happened not long ago. Heera Singh, a khuttree, was going to dispose of his wife in this way, and had even asked a Qazee to draw up a deed of sale, when he was stopped by the arrival of a Government servant. He is now said to have carried away the poor woman to some other place for sale.

The editor calls upon Government to take measures for putting a stop to this abuse, as well as to the nefarious practice (so often noticed in the Selections) of giving girls in marriage for a money consideration. In his opinion, both these practices are slave-dealing in disguise, and ought to be treated by Government accordingly.

The Muhibb-i-Hind, for the 1st week of January, under the heading "Delhi," notices the failure of Abdul Kareem, leather-dealer, and of Binda, banker,—the amount of the liabilities of the former being upwards of one lakh, and that of the latter about Rs. 25,000.

POLITICAL (FOREIGN).

The Ab-i-Hayât-i-Hind of the 1st January thinks that now that the Maharajah of Churkharee (Bundelkhund) has reached the age of puberty and is in every way fitted to conduct the administration of his principality, Government ought to invest him with the powers of government, despite the malicious and selfish designs of some of the officers of the state.

EDUCATIONAL.

The Shams-ul-Akhhár commends the Fasána-i-Hámid, a new book compiled by Gholam Hyder Khan, Extra Assistant Commissioner, Luckimpore (Oudh), as a work written in a plain and eloquent Urdú style, and one which, by the moral instruction and the didactic pieces of composition contained in it, is well worthy of being introduced into the scheme of studies of the Government Colleges and Schools in Upper India, and deserves the patronage of the North-Western Provinces, Punjab, and Oudh Governments.

The following Vernacular newspapers have been examined in this report:—
